Terpenes are compounds present in a variety of plants and contribute to their flavor, scent, and color.

There are over 100 different terpenes in the cannabis plant, and every strain tends toward a unique terpene type and composition. Each individual terpene promotes its own set of unique effects. Some promote relaxation and stress-relief, while others focus and acuity. Linalool, one of the most common terpenes found in the hemp plant, is thought to have a calming effect on nerves. Humulene, however, acts as an excellent anti-inflammatory agent.
